ATTENTION: IMPORTANT INFORMATION!

Thank you for registering for the CIPMM National Workshop on September 28-29, 2021. We can't wait to warmly (and virtually) welcome you!

As we get closer to the event, please use this link <http://www.eventmobi/NW2021> to login to the virtual platform using the email you provided on your registration form and setup your profile (and the code NW2021 to access the event from the EventMobi app on your phone). Once you are setup, you will have access to platform features, which include your personal agenda, social media links, booking private appointments with other delegates, partners and speakers, gamification, visits with partners and much more. Access to the platform and recordings to all sessions will be available to you for six months following event day. You can return at any time and watch all the sessions on demand – every single session! Please note that your login is not shareable, and it is unique to your email and initial setup.

We will be using the EventMobi virtual platform (our virtual meeting space) in combination with Zoom as our streaming platform. If your department does not grant you access to Zoom, please provide us with your alternate email before September 15th in order to properly setup your account.

Please check our website National Workshop pages on a regular basis as we continue adding great information there. Check out the speakers' bios and session descriptions; see the activities and networking opportunities. We will connect with you soon to provide you with more details for the interactive activities during the Workshop.

Please also check the website as we post How-To Guides and information to help you navigate the platform successfully – we have already available there some materials and we continue adding as we go.

We are excited to host the CIPMM National Workshop and hope you are as well. This will be a unique opportunity to virtually connect with the procurement and materiel management communities from across Canada.

In the meantime, you can view the agenda here, and if you have any questions, please email admin@cipmm-icagm.ca
